To Date NO DISCOVERY has been provided.

I
MOTION FOR DISCOVERY

JULIE HERNANDEZ hereby requests discovery and preservation of the following items pursuant to the Fifth and Sixth Amendments to the U.S. Constitution, Rule 16 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, and Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963). As of this date JULIE HERNANDEZ has received NO of discovery in the above case.

The items which JULIE HERNANDEZ requests are set forth as follows:

1. All reports / DOCUMENTS by government agents generated as a result of this case including, but not limited to, crime reports, “tips”, arrest reports, search warrants, and affidavits in support of search warrants. specifically requests all documents and reports concerning this prosecution, including but not limited to all reports generated during this investigation.

“A” file info, NCIC (criminal records), “TECS” reports, Reports on witnesses ,defendant , all records of any medical condition of either defendant OR witnesses.

2. A list of all witnesses the government intends to call during its case-in-chief, including telephone numbers of the witnesses and their present whereabouts.

Although a defendant in a criminal case does not have the right to demand a list of witnesses, a federal district court possesses, in the exercise of its inherent power to promote the proper administration of justice, the authority to require the government to disclose a list of witnesses to be called at trial. United States v. Leichtfuss, 331 F.Supp. 723 (N.D. Ill. 1971). In Leichtfuss, the district court ordered the government to provide defense counsel with a list of government witnesses thirty days prior to trial. In the instant case, disclosure of the names and addresses of government witnesses would facilitate prompt and effective cross-examination and foster stipulations to some testimony. Production of the government's witness list would also enable this Court to determine the approximate length of the trial.

3. All statements made by JULIE HERNANDEZ or witnesses.

This item calls for discovery of all statements made by JULIE HERNANDEZ , any

1 Witness. , including the original of the alleged witness statements , all notes and rough notes
2 whether oral, written or recorded, which are in the possession, custody or control of the government
3 or which, by the exercise of due diligence, may become available to the government which have not
4 already been produced by the government. Rule 16(a)(1)(A) clearly authorizes production of such 5 discovery.

6 This item calls for discovery of all statements of defendant, regardless to whom the statement
7 was made. It also calls for handwritten notes taken by or at the request of government agents
8 concerning such statements. By the very terms of Rule 16(a)(1)(A), the defendant has the absolute
9 right to inspect and copy written or recorded statements made by him to "government agents." The 10 term "government agents" includes employees and agents in the established legal sense of the 11 customs or the INS and all those acting in concert with them. This rule has been interpreted to 12 mandate discovery of the written summary of a defendant's oral statements contained in the 13 handwritten notes of a government agent. Loux v. United States, 389 F.2d 911 (9th Cir. 1968). If
14 the statement of the defendant is summarized in the notes of the U.S. Attorney, it is still discoverable
15 pursuant to Rule 16(a)(1)(A) and is not shielded by the Work Product Rule.

17 4. All books, papers, documents, photographs, tape recordings, video tapes, and
18 tangible objects which are presently in the possession, custody, or control of the government and 19 which are material to the preparation of the defense of defendant or intended for use as evidence by 20 the government in its case-in-chief.

21 Rule 16(a)(1)(C) provides authority for production of documents called for in item # 4. In 22 United States v. Countryside Farms, Inc., 428 F. Supp. 1150 (D. Utah 1977), the court made an 23 interpretation as to what is included in the meaning of Rule 16(a)(1)(C) and concluded "...
24 documents which will be relied on or referred to in any way by any witnesses called by the 25 government during its case-in-chief" are to be produced. Thus all documents and reports which may 26 be relied upon or referred to in any way by any witness are discoverable under Rule 16(a)(1)(C).

1 5. Government files and records concerning witnesses.

2 The defense requests disclosure of any and all personnel files for persons to be called as
3 government witnesses, informants in this case, and the defendant, together with the existence of any
4 and all federal, state, and local government files for these individuals. Included in this request is
5 identification of all official or unofficial internal affairs or public integrity investigation files relating 6 to or connected with each witness who was, or is, a law enforcement officer.

7 The defense is entitled to have access to government files in order to ascertain whether there
8 is information within such files which could be of an impeaching nature with regard to each witness
9 to be called, including lay witnesses and government agents. United States v. Deutsch, 475 F.2d 55
10 (5th Cir. 1973). In United States v. Morell, 524 F.2d 550 (2nd Cir. 1975), the Second Circuit held 11 that defense counsel were entitled to impeachment information in the confidential file of an 12 informant witness.

13 Personnel files, internal investigation files, state and local government files all should be
14 disclosed to the defense with regard to each witness to be called for the government, including law
15 enforcement agents, all informants, and the defendant. If the government resists production of these 16 documents, then each file should be specifically identified so that the appropriate motions or legal 17 process can be addressed to them prior to the time of trial.

18 6. All transcripts of grand jury proceedings in this investigation.

19 The decision as to whether disclosure of grand jury transcripts should be ordered is within 20 the discretion of the trial court. United States v. Marshall, 526 F.2d 1349 (9th Cir. 1975).

21 The test used to determine whether disclosure of such transcripts should be ordered is 22 Whether the party seeking disclosure has demonstrated a "particularized need" which outweighs the 23 general policy of secrecy of grand jury proceedings. Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company v. United 24 States, 360 U.S. 395 (1959).

25 In Dennis v. United States, 384 U.S. 855 (1966), the Supreme Court set forth the underlying
26 basis for requiring disclosure of grand jury testimony:

27 In a variety of circumstances, the lower Federal Courts, have made
28 Grand Jury testimony available to defendants.

1 These developments are entirely consonant with the growing
2 realization that disclosure rather than suppression of relevant
3 materials ordinarily promotes the proper administration of criminal
4 justice.

5 Id., at p. 870.

6 In our adversary system for determining guilt or innocence, it is rarely
7 justifiable for the prosecution to have exclusive access to a storehouse
8 of relevant fact. Exceptions to this are justifiable only by the clearest
9 and most compelling considerations. (Emphasis added)

10 Id., at. pp. 873.

11 Once the grand jury has completed its work, with indictments having been brought, then the 12 reason for secrecy of its testimony becomes even less compelling and disclosure should be more
13 readily granted. State of Illinois v. Sarbaugh, 552 F.2d 768 (7th Cir. 1977).

14 In United States v. Scony-Vacuum Oil Company, 310 U.S. 150 (1940), the Supreme Court
15 distinctly stated:

16 But after the Grand Jury's functions are ended, disclosure is wholly 17 proper where the interests of justice require it.

18 Id., at 234.

19 Thus, the burden on the move- ant to show a particularized need is also lessened when the 20 Grand Jury has completed its work.

21 Counsel for the defense is entitled to disclosure of grand jury transcripts of witnesses
22 testifying at trial. Disclosure ordered during trial comes too late to be effective to the defense and
23 causes needless interruptions and delays of the trial in that cross-examination cannot be fully planned
24 until after a careful review of the Grand Jury transcripts and other Jencks Act Material.

25 Here, as overt acts are alleged, grand jury information is critical in assessing the need for 26 motions on the indictment.

27 7. RULE 12 (D)(2) Notice of all evidence which the government intends to use in its 28 case-in-chief which may arguably be subject to a pre-trial motion to suppress.

The above requested discovery should be promptly disclosed to the defense to avoid delay at the time of trial and to allow an opportunity to evaluate, and possibly conduct further investigation

1 if such statements establish that this is necessary and to allow the defense to adequately prepare for
2 cross-examination of government witnesses. See, Fed. R. Evid. 801(d)(1)(A).

3 Under United States v. Miller, 771 F.2d 1219, 1232 (9th Cir. 1985); United States v. Dupuy,
4 760 F.2d 1492, 1502 (9th Cir. 1985); United States v. Harris, 543 F.2d 1247 (9th Cir. 1976), and
5 Fed. R. Crim. P. 12(I), also moves the court to order the government to produce, in camera if
6 required, any raw notes made by the assistant United States attorney and/or investigative officers of 7 all witness interviews. Should the government be unable to comply because of the destruction of 8 such notes, this could be grounds for sanctions such as dismissal of the indictment or striking of the 9 testimony of any witness to whom such notes relate. United States v. Harris, supra, 543 F.2d at 1251-
10 1252; United States v. Johnson, 521 F.2d 1318 (9th Cir. 1975); United States v. Well, 572 F.2d 1383
11 (9th Cir. 1978).

12 8. EXPERT WITNESSES - Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(E)

13 8.JULIE HERNANDEZ requests disclosure of the identity of any expert witnesses whom 14 the United States intends to use. Pursuant to Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(a)(1)(E), a written summary of the 15 opinions and the bases therefore, as well as the witness' qualifications, is requested.

18 The defense also requests that this Court make a continuing discovery order and that the 19 government be compelled to produce materials responsive to items contained in this motion as they 20 become available.

21 CONCLUSION

22 For all the foregoing reasons, counsel for JULIE HERNANDEZ requests that this court grant
23 motion to compel discovery.
